

Tayto Park's Wildlife on Wheels!

On Wednesday and Thursday a very nice lady called Jessica came to St Paul's with her animal friends from Tayto Park. She had lots of animals with her. The first animal she showed us was "Owdey the owl". Owdey is a barn owl and he was so fluffy .He was white and light brown. He was attached to a string so he could not fly away with his big strong wings .The next animal she showed us was a snake called Simon - his body felt like leather. We all got a chance to touch him, even the people that were scared touched him! Next we saw a bearded dragon named Molly. When she gets scared her chest puffs up. Some people fed it food. It is known as a reptile. After Molly, Jessica showed us "Fluffy the tarantula" we were not able to touch Fluffy because he was very scared. After that we saw a ferret called Stink. It is called Stink because when you rubbed it your hand would stink. It was white, grey and black and it was long and furry. We had so much fun seeing all the animals. We hope they visit us again soon!
